judge for 28 years, and then as a neutral at JAMS. Notable cases include the Pacific Gas and Electric bankruptcy in 2003 and the PG&E bankruptcy in 2019, in both of which I served as the court-appointed mediator.

I have been a neutral in hundreds of other matters involving entities of every description, including law firms, Ponzi schemes, hospitals, professional athletes, entertainment companies, oil companies, retail, computing, software and a host of other enterprises. I have experience dealing with a wide range of subject areas, including insurance coverage, employment, breach of contract, fraudulent transfers, internal business problems, mergers and acquisitions, and virtually any other dispute that arises in the course of operating a business, both domestically and internationally.

I have served as an expert witness, most notably in the Madoff bankruptcy and SIPC proceedings, as well as in a multi-billion dollar insurance dispute arising out of a mass tort bankruptcy.

I have been a judge in mock trials involving high-profile, big-dollar matters. One such case resulted in one of the largest environmental settlements in U.S. history. I have also been retained to help parties develop and hone their arguments in appellate matters.

My approach to mediation tends towards the evaluative, but I will use whatever approach best suits the parties and the case. I will give an unvarnished appraisal of the merits of each side's position. Clients and counsel can be assured that my opinion is based on thorough preparation (including reading the briefs, applicable cases and publicly available information), not on posturing or bluffing.

As for arbitrations, I will ensure that the proceeding is efficient and cost-effective in keeping with the parties' wants and needs, particularly in smaller matters that don't justify the cost and delay that are too often synonymous with the process.

I am also available to serve in other capacities, such as a court-appointed examiner and future claimants representative in mass tort bankruptcies.

I welcome the opportunity to serve your needs. Please contact me at randall@randallnewsomeadr.com or call 510-612-7772.
